TrunQ

We humans have always been fascinated by fire. Fire has played an important role in our lives. Even today in modern society, people feel the desire to retreat to their backyards where they can cook a meal over an open fire and just take it easy. While gazing at the flames dancing above the embers, they can take in a deep breath, forget what was on their minds and simply be content.

TrunQ

Firepit Braai Grill

Going back to basics and appreciating life is what TrunQ is all about. Its 3 times Red Dot award winning design, by the renowned German designers Christian Kusenbach and Martin Sessler, resembles a hollowed out log. A steel log with a basic look that combines the functionalities of a braai, a grill and a firepit. And because of its well thought-out design, the TrunQ enables you to grill your food and kindle the fire simultaneously.

3 SIMPLE COMPONENTS

The TrunQ has 3 simple components. The main component is a long, deep and curved fire tray with open ends in which the fire is built. It is mounted on three fireproof, square-shaped stones. The grill is placed on top of the tray and can be slid along the whole length.

GRILLING FOOD AND KINDLING THE FIRE SIDE BY SIDE

Its length of 1 metre is definitely what gives the TrunQ the edge over its rivals. You simply slide the grill to one side over the charcoal and then start grilling your food and carry on kindling the fire side by side.

DURABLE AND APPEALING TO LOOK AT

The materials used in the TrunQ's design are sturdy and minimalistic. They make the TrunQ both durable and appealing to look at, as well as easy to maintain. In fact, you could leave it in your backyard and simply wipe it clean with a cloth the next time you want to use it.
